“Life after Government Rebates –
What is the future for the Australian solar industry?”

We are most fortunate this year to have Paul Scerri as our guest speaker.

Paul will provide a snapshot of the Australian Solar PV industry with specific focus on the recent utility scale project announcements and offers his insights from his extensive industry experience.

Paul Scerri is on the Board of Management of the Australian Solar Council and also the National Sales & Business Development Manager at Solar Inception. Paul has 23 years of local & international manufacturing experience, trading experience throughout Asia, Europe & the Americas and the grounding of a global PV manufacture.

Please arrive at the Mechanics Institute by 6.00 p.m. for a tour of the recently refurbished historic building. Pre-dinner drinks will be available in the Humffray Room from 7:00 p.m. Dinner will be served at 7.30 p.m. The cost of the evening, which includes a nourishing meal, is a very reasonable $35 and $15 for students.

.The annual "Technologists' Picnics" are attended by members of several professional organisations that have an interest in materials science and engineering. The core participants are from the Australian Foundry Institute, Materials Australia, Engineers Australia and the Australasian Corrosion Association, together with members of the general public. Interest from other groups is actively encouraged.

The event is hosted by the Committee of the Ballarat Group of Engineers Australia
